Total Deductions	4,350
Net Salary	37,650

Note: Deductions will be made as per applicable statutory requirements. Bonuses and incentives will be awarded based on performance metrics and company profitability.

Annexure II – Company Policies

Stackly expects all employees to adhere to its code of conduct, ensuring a professional and ethical work environment. Policies on attendance, leave, and workplace behavior are clearly outlined in the employee handbook. Employees must comply with all safety regulations and report any workplace hazards. The company promotes an inclusive workplace and does not tolerate discrimination. Regular performance reviews will be conducted to assess growth and areas of improvement. Non-compliance with company policies may result in disciplinary action, including termination.

Annexure III – Benefits and Perks

Stackly provides various benefits, including health insurance, wellness programs, and retirement plans. Employees are entitled to paid leave, including vacation, sick leave, and parental leave. Additional perks such as employee discounts, gym memberships, and team outings may be offered. The company supports a flexible work culture where possible, enhancing work-life balance. Professional development programs, including training sessions and certifications, are encouraged. These benefits are reviewed periodically to ensure they remain competitive and relevant.

Annexure IV – Confidentiality and Non-Compete Agreement

Employees must maintain the confidentiality of company information, including trade secrets, client data, and proprietary technology. Sharing sensitive information outside the organization without authorization is strictly prohibited. Employees are not allowed to engage in any business that competes with Stackly during and after employment for a specified period. Breach of these terms may lead to legal consequences and termination. The company reserves the right to take appropriate action if any violations occur. These policies ensure business security and the protection of company interests.

Annexure V – Termination Clause

Either party may terminate employment with prior notice as per the contractual agreement. Stackly reserves the right to terminate employment without notice in cases of gross misconduct. Employees resigning must serve the required notice period or be compensated instead of notice. Exit formalities, including the return of company assets, must be completed before the final settlement. Any disputes arising from termination will be addressed as per company policies. Severance pay may be provided in exceptional circumstances as per legal requirements

Annexure VI – Code of Conduct

Employees are expected to maintain professionalism, integrity, and ethical behavior at all times. Harassment, discrimination, and workplace misconduct will not be tolerated under any circumstances. Employees must respect their colleagues, superiors, and clients in all interactions. Personal use of company resources should be limited and in compliance with company policies.

Any violations of the code of conduct will be subject to disciplinary action. Stackly encourages an open-door policy to address employee grievances effectively.

Annexure VII – Working Hours and Leave Policy

1. Working Hours

- Standard working hours: Monday to Friday, 09:30 AM – 06:30 PM (including a 1-hour lunch break).
- Employees are expected to work 40 hours per week.
- Flexible working arrangements may be available with prior approval.
- Overtime must be pre-approved by the manager and will be compensated as per company guidelines.

2. Leave Policy

a) Annual Leave

- Employees are entitled to 24 days of paid annual leave per year.
- Leave requests must be submitted at least 2 days in advance and approved by the manager.
- Unused leave may (or may not, depending on company policy) be carried forward to the next year.

b) Sick Leave

- Employees are entitled to 12 days of paid sick leave per year.
- A medical certificate is required for absences longer than 5 consecutive days.

c) Public Holidays

- The company observes all national and regional public holidays.
- If an employee is required to work on a public holiday, compensatory leave or additional pay will be provided.

d) Maternity & Paternity Leave

- Maternity leave: 12 weeks of paid leave as per labor laws.
- Paternity leave: 15 days of paid leave.
- Extended unpaid leave may be considered on a case-by-case basis.

e) Emergency / Bereavement Leave

- Employees may take 3 days of leave in case of a family emergency or the death of an immediate family member.

f) Unpaid Leave

- Additional unpaid leave may be granted at the discretion of management.

Annexure VIII – Training and Development

Stackly invests in employee growth through structured training programs and workshops. New hires undergo an onboarding process to familiarize themselves with company policies and culture. Continuous learning is encouraged through mentorship programs and skill development courses. Employees may be nominated for external training and certification programs. Feedback from training sessions is gathered to enhance learning opportunities. Career advancement opportunities are provided based on individual performance and potential.

Annexure IX – PF Consideration

As per statutory requirements, your PF contributions will commence from your first month of employment. Contributions to PF will be made following government regulations and company policy. Employees will be notified of the enrollment process upon meeting eligibility criteria.

Annexure X – Miscellaneous Terms

This section includes provisions for workplace safety, remote work policies, and dispute resolution. Stackly reserves the right to modify policies as per business needs and regulatory changes. Employees are encouraged to provide feedback to improve workplace culture and efficiency. Conflict resolution mechanisms are in place to address grievances professionally. Periodic audits will be conducted to ensure policy compliance. Any clarifications regarding policies can be sought from the HR department.
